

From Amsterdam Airport (by train)

Arriving at Amsterdam Airport, the Schiphol train station is located directly below the airport. Direct trains to Delft (final destination Vlissingen) leave every 30 minutes from platform 5-6. The journey by train will take approximately 39 minutes. A one-way journey will cost € 9,60 (full fare, 2nd class) and € 16,30 (full fare, 1st class)

Where to buy train tickets?

You can travel on NS (the Dutch Railways) with a single-use chip card that is available from the yellow ticket machines with the blue overhead sign reading 'train tickets'. You can find the ticket machines near the platforms at Schiphol Plaza. Tickets (for domestic and international travel) are also available at the Ticket- and Service desks at Schiphol Plaza.

When travelling with a single-use chip card, you need to check in at a check-in point before your journey, and to check out at a check-out point after your journey.

For more information, please check the NS website

From Rotterdam The Hague Airport (by bus and train)

Arriving at Rotterdam The Hague Airport there is no direct public transport to Delft. First take bus # 33 (direction Rotterdam Centraal, 20-25 minutes) to go to Rotterdam's central station. A one-way journey will cost € 1,70 for the bus (full fare). The buses stop right next to the departures hall.

Rotterdam central station has fast and regular railway connections to the city of Delft; almost every ten minutes trains to Delft leave from the platforms 8 or 9. A one-way journey will cost € 3,20 (full fare, 2nd class) or € 5,40 (full fare, 1st class) for the train.

The total journey from the airport to Delft station will take approximately 40-50 minutes.

Where to buy bus and train tickets?

On board of the bus you can purchase the bus ticket to the central station. At Rotterdam's central station you can purchase a single-use chip card from the yellow ticket machines with the blue overhead sign reading 'train tickets'.

Tickets (for domestic and international travel) are also available at the Ticket- and Service desks, which you can find in front of the luggage lockers and the toilets in the public area of the central station.

From Rotterdam The Hague Airport (by taxi)

You can also take a taxi to get to Delft. The taxi stand is located directly in front of the entrance/exit of the airport terminal. The fare to Delft (about 12 kilometers) will take 15-20 minutes (though not at rush hour traffic) and will cost approximately € 33.